

Revivogen – The Best Natural Solution for Healthy Hair

Losing hair faster than you can count? Only a person who has experienced this crisis can really understand your anguish. Hair loss is one of the most common and frustrating problems experienced by many men and women. Although it is natural to lose around 50 to 100 hairs a day as part of the body's hair-renewal process, losing more can cause rapid thinning of the hairline resulting in partial or total baldness.

What causes hair loss?

Treating this condition in a timely manner can save you a lot of psychological and emotional pain. There are many possible causes of a person's hair loss such as hormonal imbalance, poor blood circulation in the scalp, poor nutritional choices, childbirth, some forms of illnesses, excessive stress, etc.

Androgenic alopecia, also known as male pattern baldness, is the most common condition that affects men and women alike. DHT, which is a by-product of testosterone, is responsible for this condition when it is produced in excessive quantity by an enzyme present in the scalp known as 5-alpha-reductase.

DHT combines with the genetically predisposed hair follicle to cause a gradual suppression of hair-growth and eventually, shrinks and deteriorates the hair follicle to cause baldness.
